The first mentioned went down to 100 amid much excite-ment, reacted about a half to three-quarters per cont, then went down to 97% and finally closed at 97%. The losses entailed by the "drop" in this stock are very large, and there is no small amount of indignation at the action of the prominent directors in advising its purchase at figures twenty per cent above par. To-day the street was inclined to "kick the dying lion" by starting all sorts of rumors. Prominent among these was a statement that one of the steam-ers of the line had been lost and another disabled. Another and a very lively contest is preparing in FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

TURNDAY, Feb. 23—6 P. M.

The patriolic sentiment aroused by the recurrence of Washington's birtidags stimulated size 'bears' in begins a fresh attack on gold, which resulted in a reduction of the price to 1324. Their action, however, was not entirely disassociated from the fact that fre-twenties in London had touched 79 agains as Monday. In the absence of the news that these securities had suffered a relipse to-day, and in the greence of large sales of the metal by the clique log get funds to operate with in another region of wall street, the price, which opened at 1324, steadily declined to 1325. Meeting of the Board Yesterday—The Officers Elected—Brokers as Parliamentarians. The several hundred brokers who do not belong to the "regular board," and who, of course, wouldn't belong to it if they could, mot again yesterday at No. 54 Exchange place as members of the "National Board of Brokera." The meeting was held on one of the top stories of the building, in a large room or the top stories of the ounding, in a large room redolent of new paint and shavings, where a huge red hot stove in the middle of the apartment did ex-cellent service in steaming the wet garments of the brokers, who crowded about it as though each one was "short" of coal and wanted to make the most of the article in the heater, at no person's particuby extra inducements from the chairman's mallet, general attention had been distracted from the stove, the minutes of the previous meeting were read and voted not bad.

The secretary, a gentleman who knows the value (not hairdresser's value) of a pair of long mustaches and a quantum sufficit of promisenous whisker, read the result of the election held last Saturday, which was as follows:—President, James Baker; First Vice President, C. C. Parks; Second Vice President, E. R. Tremain; Treasurer, Charles Unger; Secretary, C. M. Delmar; Assistant Secretary, John R. Lansing; Chairman of Arbitration Committee, George P. Clark.

A good natured member, with an eye to the future.

George P. Clark.

A good natured member, with an eye to the future, solvised that the temporary Executive Committee should be retained in power to pass upon the names of the applicants who hadn't as yet been allowed to be dubbed members of the new board.

A gentieman whose name was too long for the secretary to write in one sitting, believed from the bottom of his heart that such a thing was an impossibility; because why: Hadn't a constitution and bylaws been adopted, and wouldn't it be contrary to the constitution, either of the board or the United States? Hesides, what about the new Executive Committee which had been put in a high place by the election?

The chairman didn't believe that the retaining of the old committee which had been discharged would be unconstitutional. He didn't exactly know why it wouldn't, but he felt that way anyhow.

A young gentieman, with a note book with the word "Effect" written on the margin intimated that

A roung gentleman, with a note book with the word "chee" writine on the marzin inimated that he always betkved the way the majority believed; he leave in the present mustance he believed the adoption of the motion would be a sacriligeous violation of that "grand instrument" of the Board—its constitution.

The gentleman who made the motion at this stage of the proceedings became frightened at the parliamentary storm he had raised about his ears, and very kindly remarked that he would withdraw the motion if nobody objected, when the chairman, in the most pleasant way imaginable, expressed his high gratification at the turn affairs had taken, by which he was releved from the great responsibility of deciding the question at issue against somebody. The old committee was then desharged honorably.

A tall young man, who prided himself on his strength in technicalities, intrinsed that there was no chairman pressing over the meeting, at which the conrieous individual who was supposed to be the chair toked pleaning; toward like technicality man, and said, with much truth, that he supposed that whoever was in possession of the chair had it, but that he felt much pleasure in resigning it to the first Vice President, which he diminater.

The First Vice President said he never made speeches, and would consequently not do any more than that the unembers for naving thrust so high an honor upon him and promise that the board would be a success.

Mr. Doubleday offered a resolution that the secretary has decided be, in consideration of his services, path his saiary from the 19th of January last, which was carried—that is, the motion was carried—thay has decided be, in consideration of his services, path his saiary from the 19th of January last, which was carried—that is, the motion was carried—the had been one of the fathers of the board. Sinking a Canal Beat.

Before Judge Benedict.

Thomas Boylan as. The Steam Tay Quickstep.—
On the 2d of October hast the plaintist had lying at the foot of Barclay street, North river, a canal boat known as the Golden Harvest, of which he was the master. The cargo consisted of coal dust, and there were also on board his own clothing and that of his family. Wishing to have the boat removed to Newark, N. J., he placed her in tow of the steam tug Quickstep, having lashed her to the starboard side of the tug. At the foot of Laight street, whither she was towed previous to the departure for Newark, the starboard side of the canal boat was so badly injured, as claimed by plainting, by coming in contact with a soons harge, that it was necessary to take her across the river to Jersey Flats, where she speedily sank. The action was brought to recover the sum of $1,350, the estimated value of the boat, her cargo and the personal property of the master and his family. The answer set up was that the canal boat was unseew or thy when taken in tow and could not have reached her destination had not the accident occurred which, as alleged, occasioned her loss. Case still on.

Action to Recover the Value of a Brick Machine.

Henry Bover vs. William Politon and Another.—

Action to Recover the Value of a Brick Mackins.

Heavy Bower vs. William Pollion and Another.—
The defendants were copartners under the firm name of Poilion & Oo. On the Sist of March, 1860, plaintiff applied to defendants, as claimed by the latter, to purchase a brick machine, representing that it could turn off from 500 to 800 bricks per hour. Defendants refused to purchase without an opportunity of testing the machine. Upon the payment of $100 plaintiff consented to let defendants have the machine on trial for the space of fourteen days, who were to accept it if they fixed it. Plaintiff set the machine op and as soon as it was started it broke down. It was several days before it was repaired, and immediately upon starting it a second time it broke down sgain. The defendants not liking the machine returned it on the 6th of August. The action was brought to recover the sum of $500, the alleged value of the machine. Verdict for plaintiff and damages assessed at fifty dollars.

OBITUARY.

This well known minister died at his residence in Palmer, Mass., ou Monday morning, the 22d inst., in the seventy-ninth year of his age. Dr. Vaill was born in Haddime, Conn., July 28, 1790, and graduated at Yale in 1811, with S. E. Morse, late of the New York Observer, and the late Governor Baldwin, of Connecticut, with both of whom he was on intimate terms. In 1814, when twenty-three years of age, he was ordained pastor of the Congregational church in Brimfield, Mass., where he remained twenty-five years, with an intermission of four years, during which he was pastor of a church at Portland, Me. In 1821 he was elected trustee of Amherst College, a position he held this time of his death. In its early years the college struggled under pecuniary embarrasement, and Dr. Vaill was appointed general agent to collect funds for the institution. He was installed over the Congregational church in Somers, Conn., August 6, 1845, where he spent nine years. He received, at his request, a dismission the list of December, 1804, and on the 6th of the same month was installed over the Second Congregational church in Palmer in the spring of 1808, but continued to preach in various places till elected a member of the tegislature last November. He was the oldest member of that body, but almost as vigorous and earnest in his labors as the youngest. He was one of the special committee on the Liguor law, and took an active part in all measures of importance. A WHITE SIRL THIRTEEN YEARS OLD SEDUCED BY A NEGRO. Attempted Tragedy in a Court Room.

Attempted Tragedy in a Court Room.

Thomas bowden, a colored man, was tried at Cadra, Harrison county, Ohio, on Thursday last, on a charge of secucing a young white girl by the name of Lydia M. Annos, daughter of a weathly former of Harrison county. He was found guilty and sentenced to the mid punishment of hard labor in the penitentiary for five years. In the course of the trial Miss Annos, who is but thirteen years old, being but a few feet from the prisoner, in the presence of judge and jury, rushed upon him with a loaded revolver and attempted to fire it, but through some mismanagement on her part it failed to go of.

ANOTHER NEGRO SUICIDE.

ANOTHER REGRO SINCISE.

If was proverbrai a few years ago that the negro, however terrible has condition, very rarely in this country committed suicide; but the equal rights mania has produced its effect. We have observed a number of cases of negro suicide recently, the latest of which, and "all for love," is thus recounted by the New Orleans Times of the 19th.—

James H. Johnson, a colored soider belonging to Company B of the Thirty-ninth United states colored infantry and an orderly to Colonel Warren, who two days ago attempted to commit suicide by shooting humself in the left breast, died yesterday in the rear of Colonel Warren's residence, No, 182 Carondelet street. Dissolution was produced by the wound above described. Johnson is spoken of by those who know nim as a remarkably intelligent and industrious mulatto, and from his position one would infer was a man to be trusted. Some time since he conceived an attachment for a remarkably pretty quadroon girl, and her repeated rections are given as the cause of his self-destruction. The coroner yesterday held an inquest on the hody, his jury rendering a verdiet in accordance with the facts. The girl was in attendance, and of course wept bitterly. One of the last acts of his life was to indice her a very tender and rather well written epistic, in which the reason for the suicide was eterrly set forta.
